Foreword

The past three years at Beverly High School have been filled with experiences and memories which can be signified as our own. Such singular experiences have now become lasting imprints in our minds. But in the future, if our recollections become hazy, BEVER-LEGA will aid in unlocking the door to these memories, providing the ability to travel back in time and to relive the treasured experiences of our high school years.

Main Student Council

The Main Student Council of Beverly High School provides the necessary link between the students and the administration. Through their elected representative, students voice their suggestions for fund-raising activities and for possible alterations in the school's policy. Those which are deemed feasible by the council, its advisors, and the administration are incorporated into school life. This year's council was composed of the representatives who are pictured above.

Honor Students

The honor students of Beverly High School are recognized twice yearly at High Honor Convocations held in the fall and winter. This year's senior class had several superior students. By November, 1968 eight members of the class had been awarded blazers for maintaining a 3.6 average in their studies. Five more seniors were added to the first group of recipients at a High Honor Scholar Convocation in March of 1969.

Six students, including two blazer recipients, received letters of commendation because of their performance in their National Merit exams.

Beverlega

The events of our high school years, from "getting-to-know-you" to graduation, have been permanently recorded for the future fun of "looking back," by our BEVERLEGA Staff. The work of the yearbook staff actually began during the spring of the year preceding publication. Editors and members of the layout staff met during the summer to assemble ideas for the theme and divisional arrangement of the yearbook.

The entire BEVERLEGA Staff has met weekly since the beginning of the school year, laying out and typing pages, scheduling pictures, soliciting subscriptions, and writing copy. The efforts of each member of the staff were directed toward the publication of a complete and accurate yearbook by advisors Miss Isabel Hariman, Miss Frances Hatch, Miss Margaret Miner and Miss Claire Gauthier.

Creative Expression . . .

Aegis

The outlet for B.H.S. literary and artistic talent is our school magazine, AEGIS. Besides the four publications of AEGIS each year, a major activity of the magazine's staff is the traditional assembly. This year, members of the AEGIS staff were again offered an opportunity to demonstrate their wide variety of talents. K. Bekeritis, (immediate lower left) made her singing debut, while P. Hausmann (center) gave his interpretation of a classical dance. Members of the faculty were also seen in the assembly. Mr. Richard Batchelder (immediate lower right) made a cameo appearance and "did his thing." The assembly was climaxed by a beauty contest. As seen in the bottom photo, the beauties H. Connaughton, N. Mitchell, R. Brown, W. Charette, J. Glasser and D. Boynton were a choice section of our student body.

Distributive Education

The Distributive Education course of Beverly High School is a program designed to give those students whose chosen future careers are in the field of merchandising, the advantage of both classroom and on-the-job training. Mornings are spent in discussion with their advisor, Mr. Richard DiCarlo and doing classwork related to buying and selling. The students then leave school at 11:15 A.M. to commence their work day at jobs obtained for them by Beverly High School. This dual training is a definite advantage for the students as they embark upon merchandising careers in our highly competitive world.

B.H.S. News

While BEVERLEGA summarizes yearly events and AEGIS displays literary and artistic talents, weekly sports and social happenings are publicized by the staff of the B.H.S. News. The 4-J English Class, consisting of twenty-six students, utilizes English periods for reporting, proof-reading, editing and typing articles for the school paper. In the picture, Mr. George Weiler, B.H.S. News Advisor, checks an article for the paper, while B. Byrne, M. Rathbun, P. Zegaczewski, and J. Gelineau review results of a recent poll.

The purpose of the clubs were primarily educational, but the program also included field trips to foreign food restaurants and films for amusement.

Football

The Beverly High School Varsity football squad, involved in several close games this year, actually had a better season than their 4 and 5 record indicates. They capped their season by defeating Salem, a victory gratifying not only because of the intense rivalry between Beverly and Salem, but also because of a personal goal for Coach Roy Norden, the one-hundredth win of his coaching career. In the far right-hand corner, G. Congley gains decisive yardage at a tense moment in that game as R. Allen (lower far right) watches the action. At the immediate right, several squad members crowd around Coach Roy Norden in jubilation. Glimpses of one of the always well-attended home games are at the center and lower immediate right.

Varsity Basketball

In their second year under the coaching direction of Mr. William Hayes, the Beverly High School Basketball Team improved vastly. Co-captains R. Rhoades, (bottom left), and G. Davison, paced the team to a 10-4 overall league record for the season, but all of this year's victories came as the result of a concentrated team effort on the part of all the players involved. At the left, F. Smuckler is shown sinking a basket during the first home-court victory of the season.

Track is a sport which requires unequalled stamina as well as determination and drive on the part of the participants. This year's Beverly High School Cross Country Team finished their season with a record of four wins, two losses, and one tie. Headed by S. Hawryluk and J. Girls' Basketball Team

Two newcomers to the Beverly High School physical education department faculty, Miss Anstis Marting and Miss Sharon Padden, became the coaches of the girls' basketball team this year. They worked in conjunction with an enthusiastic and cooperative team who, through a combination of talent and sheer determination, compiled a season's record of six wins and two losses. Our Goals

This year only one student, Mark Celantano, met the requirements of the 50 mile club. However, there were many ambitious students who jogged several afternoons a week to complete the necessary 25 miles. Each participant had to jog at least one-half mile at a time with partners or in groups.

Alt House Office

A major factor contributing to the successful functioning of B.H.S. is the house system. The job of Mr. George Taylor, Housemaster of Alt, is to co-ordinate the students and faculty of Alt House with the rest of the school. Mr. Ralph Lizio and Mr. Philip Kendrick, guidance counselors, write recommendations, help students select their courses, and teach daily classes. The newest addition to the Alt House Office Staff, Secretary, Miss Rosemary Russo, competently handles transcripts, attendance records, and bus tickets.

Many students of Alt House add to the manageability of the daily routine. Alt House office aides, girls who have given up study periods to work in the office, help to keep track of attendance in each class, and run errands throughout the school. The Fire Squad, a group of boys who have been assigned posts throughout Alt House, are trained in the use of fire extinguishing equipment. These boys are prepared to keep small fires under control until the fire department arrives.

Planning And Record

Through the House Council, the students of Alt suggest ideas and formulate plans in order to carry out numerous activities. With the help of Mr. Thomas Tanous, advisor for the Council, Sharon Quigley, President, and the other council members sponsored a straw ballot and planned a Christmas carol sing. Preparing a seasonal bulletin board is a regular council activity. J. Avalon and E. Orlando, right, are adding the finishing touches to an autumn scene.

New teachers, upcoming events, and intramural sports are a few of the subjects covered by the Alt House newspaper, The Leader. The function of The Leader is to inform students of recent happenings in Alt House school life. A common phase of school life is shown below, as C. Row, J. Gilligan, R. Bradley, and T. The conscientious members of the Brown House Student Council worked again toward successfully representing the students and their views. One of the major issues was the idea of supporting a foreign child. In order to do this, the council must raise $100 per year until the child has grown up. To raise the money the council planned such activities as dances. Brown House also sponsors a fire squad. Their duties include such necessary actions as opening doors and closing windows during a fire drill or in the event of a civil defense emergency.

Buckley House Business

Co-operation was the reason for the successful operation of Buckley House throughout the school year. Mr. Richard Preston, Housemaster, with the aid of his secretary Mrs. Ida Nicolo, ran the office and the entire house. Mrs. Nicolo was aided in her duties by the office aides, who collected attendance and did some of the secretarial work. Mr. Demo Agganis and Miss Elaine Nadeau provided the students with scholastic guidance, helping the underclassmen to choose courses and the seniors to select the right college. The fire squad protected the faculty and students during bomb-scares and fire-drills. Thus, through the co-operation C-House saw another successful year.

Happiness Is Being

Co-operation between students and teachers is necessary for a school to be run efficiently and successfully. Trade School

Much of the success of the Claude H. Patton Trade High School is due to the efforts of the trade school secretaries, (from top to bottom) Mrs. Jeannette Corse, Mrs. Elizabeth Lizio, and Mrs. Mary Wright. Their many responsibilities include bookkeeping, recordkeeping, and the clerical work involved in running a business.

Mr. DiPietro, Director-Principal, upheld his responsibilities by supervising activities within the trade school. Here, he is authorizing a shop order form.

Trade High

The students of the trade school run a series of small businesses. Each shop buys raw materials used in the manufacture of the products and their servicing. Customers of the trade school are charged for parts and a small amount for labor. Through service to the customers, the students gain experience on actual production. They are required to meet the standards of both the instructors and the customers.

Main Office

Beverly High School is a three-spoked wheel—Alt, Brown, and Buckley—with Dr. Francis J. Fisher as its center. He conducts his activities from the main office and communicates with the entire school by revealing his policies to the students through the Housemasters. Dr. Fisher officiates at assemblies and always has an encouraging word for the students.

Special guidance problems of students are referred to the Director of Guidance, Mr. Paul Crosby. Anyone who wants to discontinue a course must have it approved by Mr. Crosby after conferences with the parents and student. In his office, Mr. Crosby has pamphlets, books, college catalogs, circulars, and bulletins for interested students. These leaders kept the wheel of Beverly High turning and rolling along.

Wheel In Motion

The busiest section of the school is the Main Office, where Dr. Francis Fisher carries out his work. His efficient secretaries answered the outside telephone, typed, took messages, and made announcements over the intercom. These competent main office secretaries also trained the main office aides in operating the switchboard to exchange calls from homeroom to homeroom. The dependable aides served Dr. Fisher, hung posters for Mr. Crosby, and sorted mail and delivered it to the house offices. All of this activity attests to the business of the Main Office.

Communications Here

English Department

English is a subject which lends itself to a wide variety of activities in the course of study. The B.H.S. English Department strived to make learning fun, not tedious. Students at the right (R. Trefrey, M. Picariello, and C. Norden) find enjoyment as they listen to a Hamlet tape while Mr. William Hayes gives pointers. This year's projects such as producing plays, appreciating modern poetry, and seeing The Taming of the Shrew, helped release inner creativity and imagination. Other outlets are found in the many extra-curricular activities sponsored by the department.

Language Department

Miss Elsie Watters and the other members of the B.H.S. Language Department endeavor to help students develop understanding and proper usage of a foreign language. Language teachers at B.H.S. hope to encourage further study on the part of the student, which will aid him in international communication in this ever-shrinking world. A vital factor contributing to this development is the language laboratory. To the left, A. Dubois checks notes taken on one of the numerous tapes.

Such courses as Modern Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, and Advanced and General Mathematics challenged the students and prepared them for this mathematical world. Mr. Thomas Skiffington headed the department this year. In the picture (left) pupils in his period one class are working diligently at their Advanced Math tests. Science Department

What is life? Death? The search for these answers is guided by the scientific method in the study of biological reproduction, chemical decomposition, and atomic destruction. These topics, among others, are the common denominator of science instruction at the school. Members of the department seek to guide students in an examination of their environment; from general science to physics, efforts are made to formulate theses and draw conclusions regarding the existence of matter and natural phenomena. Scientific minded students, such as John Muzarol, right, have a chance to help with the maintenance of the laboratories by working as lab assistants. Furthermore, Science clubs—Explorers and Science Research—under the auspices of Mr. Robert Michel, Department Chairman, are still another factor in this complex investigation.

History Department and Library

Many students found a great deal of use for the library this year, but the library's offerings were particularly important to history students. The well-lit, spacious room and quiet surroundings provided a comfortable atmosphere for exam preparation; meanwhile, the librarians quickly responded to any questions referred to them by the students. The students constantly used the card catalogue, Reader's Guide, and encyclopedias. R. Waldman and D. Danda busily used these references to complete their research papers. The History department, headed by Mr. John Page, also sponsored such activities as the Youth Leadership Contest, the Voice of Democracy Contest, and the Memorial Day Assembly. The students of Beverly High School utilized the library's resources to gain knowledge in history and all other subjects.

Trade School

Few realize and understand the complexities involved in learning the skills of a trade. If one were to walk through the Claude H. Dionne are pictured inspecting and laying out machine parts. On the following page, P. Dionne and B. Polack are working in the print shop with the linotype machine, and T. Industrial Arts

Beverly High's Industrial Arts program was set up for the benefit of students planning mechanical occupations and for those interested in tools, machinery, and shop procedure. In addition, the course, instructed by Mr. Otto Winqvist and Mr. Daniel Shea (right), renders to its students knowledge valuable in home maintenance. Above, two dedicated students, R. Art Department

Beverly High School students are fortunate in that their school possesses both the equipment and the space necessary to accommodate a number of art classes. Courses offered include General Art, Commercial Art, Mechanical Drawing, General Crafts, Jewelry, and Metal Crafts. All students are urged to take advantage of Beverly High's extensive art program which has Mr. Francis LeBlanc (left) and Mrs. Frances Niebergall for instructors. On the left above, S. Talbot and P. Miss Milicent Boswell and Mrs. Marjorie Truesdale (left) realized the need for better homemakers and strived to convey their knowledge to the girls of Beverly High School. G. Houston, G. Forster, and S. Jeness (below left) quickly learned the skills mandatory to using a sewing machine. Before starting to cook, L. Carnevale and L. Brilliant (below) read over the recipe and placed all the necessary ingredients on the counter. In this way, the girls in this course soon achieved the skills of being efficient homemakers.

Physical Education

As the students aimed to better themselves physically, they were assisted by the physical education teachers at Beverly High School. The boys followed the program of Mr. Joseph Lavacchia, Mr. Howard Tozier, and Mr. Dominic Arangio (lower right) by competing in soccer and volleyball. Mrs. Carr, as school nurse, cares for the safety and good health of B.H.S. students. In addition to her regular duties of first aid, eye and ear tests, and dismissals, Mrs. Carr conducts teacher-nurse conferences, serves as a counselor, and is available in the case of an emergency.

Executives

Executive Board

The Junior Executive Board consists of the elected Homeroom Presidents. They were elected because of their capability. Their duty is to attend meetings and inform their homeroom of the Board's activities. Their main activity is sponsoring the Senior Reception. In order to raise money for this purpose, they have sponsored a dance.

The Class officers along with the rest of the Board and the House Treasurer are trying to make this class a profitable one in ideas as well as money. Suggestion boxes are distributed throughout the houses in order to hear directly from the students.

Junior Talent

Junior Class

This year the Junior Class had a variety of students participating in all types of extra-curricular activities. There were three blazer recipients to be congratulated for maintaining a high academic average throughout their years at B.H.S. There were four conscientious members of the Aegis who will, next year, go on to be the able leaders of the staff. In addition, there were the members of the BEVERLEGA staff who worked so conscientiously to produce this yearbook. On the musical scene, the Junior Class had two excellent trumpet players (left) Paul Servizio and William Soares who offered their talents to the B.H.S. band.

The Sophomore Class eagerly became a part of B.H.S. in September, showing their enthusiasm at pep rallies and sporting events. They contributed much athletically to each team and exhibited considerable school spirit.

The efforts of the class officers, Margaret McPherson, John Mitchell, Julie Frasca, Sue Caparella, and Karen Wonson, enabled the class to sponsor a dance and sell B.H.S. pins, which gave them an early start in raising money. Many of the members have excelled scholastically as well as athletically.

We regret completing our exciting sophomore year, but we look forward to the next two years as a challenge to prove ourselves a worthy and memorable class of Beverly High School.
